

For Immediate Release
November 29, 2007

Contact: Ashley Armstrong
Bainbridge Island Downtown Association
206-842-2982

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND DOWNTOWN ASSOCIATION & VOLUNTEERS DECORATE DOWNTOWN FOR THE HOLIDAYS

On Friday, December 9, the Bainbridge Island Downtown Association and a group of enthusiastic volunteers gathered at the annual "Light Screwing Party" to prepare the downtown holiday decorations that went up on Saturday morning, December 10.

Special thanks to Eagle Harbor Congregational Church for allowing us to use their space to tie bows on gifts, touch up paint on the Nutcrackers, and of course, replace those burnt out bulbs on the holiday lights that hang above the street.

Great thanks also to the festive volunteers, some of whom turned out both Friday evening and Saturday morning to trim our downtown for the holidays.

Photos Include:

Lisa Dunlap of Sweet Deal, Kit Hutchins of Churchmouse Yarns & Teas, and Mark and Jennifer Rhoads of Esther's Fabrics finish a holiday bough.

Nutcracker Family playing after the work is done.

Kris Gullo, of the Bainbridge Island Downtown Association, hangs holiday boughs on a sunny but cold Saturday morning.

Charlie King worked with Klaas Hesselink to put up the Nutcrackers along Winslow Way.

Bob Cederwall and team brought a boom truck early Saturday morning to hang the holiday lights above Winslow Way.

Lisa Dunlap of Sweet Deal and Barbara Tolliver of The Traveler hang holiday boughs along Madison Avenue.